

Independence and Editorial Policy

Environmental Stewardship Concepts is an independent consulting firm providing scientific and technical information and analysis. We specialize in assisting communities and individuals facing the challenges resulting from environmental contamination. The work that we conduct and the products we prepare are the work of ESC team members and do not represent the position or opinion of any agency or other entity. As called for and appropriate for specific projects, we will take into consideration the comments of sponsoring organizations and outside individuals. ESC makes all final decisions on work and work products. As an independent firm, we take pride in the fact that we are not subject to the outside influence of other agencies, potentially responsible parties, contractors, or other entities associated with ongoing site cleanup.

ESC makes all editorial decisions regarding the content of the material in our work products, on our web site and in any other materials we prepare. Our goal is to provide accurate and relevant information, analysis and interpretation of scientific information and related regulatory guidance and procedure. The interpretations and opinions stated in our deliverables reflect those of the individual authors or ESC, as indicated.
