"Since I started my career with ACI Architects, my knowledge of the design and construction industry has proliferated. ACI has allowed me to diversify my experiences through a variety of projects from education and commercial to healthcare and law enforcement. From each project type results a distinct set of consequential regulations defining safety, comfort, health and aesthetics, necessary for quality buildings.

I began with working drawings but have expanded into the contract administration stage of projects. It is rewarding to see complex designs that I have detailed come to life on site. As I take on more responsibility for the projects I work on, the better I feel about the final product." - Trish
