

Dear Render Advertiser

Render is entering its 48th year of serving the United States (US) and global rendering industry in 2019 and still remains the only premier magazine for reaching new renderer clients! As a non-profit publication, Render has strived to keep expenses in line with revenue year after year, benefiting new and long-term advertisers alike. While we have been successful at keeping expenses and rates down for 11 straight years, new and exciting additions to Render have led to a slight increase in rates for 2019. A new biofuels columnist provides an insider's look at this ever-growing market for rendered fats and greases. In addition, an updated website is in the works for this coming year that will help visitors easily access past issues, advertiser websites, and industry news. Render continues to offer complimentary subscriptions to individuals around the globe with an affiliation to the rendering industry.

Industry leaders worldwide recognize Render as the leading publication for informing the global rendering and affiliate industries about challenges from government regulations across the world, ever-changing markets, new and improved technology for rendering operations, the benefits of rendered products in animal nutrition, and new markets for animal fats and proteins. Because Render is the only publication serving the US and global rendering industry, you have a captive audience when you advertise in Render.

Along with the more than 3,200 US and international subscribers, Render is seen by about 3,500 monthly visitors to the magazine's website at www.rendermagazine.com. This adds additional value for promoting your product or service in Render as advertisers receive a complimentary website link on Render's Suppliers page for the length of each advertising contract. In addition, each issue of Render is posted on the site as an interactive file, allowing readers to click on a web link in every ad.

The attached 2019 rate card should provide answers to most of your advertising questions. However, if you require any additional information, please do not hesitate to contact me.

I look forward to working together in the future!

Sincerely,

Tina Caparella
Editor/Publisher

CONDITIONS

All advertising is subject to acceptance by the publisher. Advertiser assumes liability for all content of advertisements and agrees to indemnify the publisher for all claims and lawsuits arising therefrom. No ad will be placed without a properly executed and signed insertion order/contract. This order is authorization to reserve the listed space for any advertisement at the indicated rates on the Render rate card and subject to the conditions noted herein.

Materials: Camera ready copy shall be provided by the advertiser and updated at the advertiser's discretion. New materials must be received by the closing dates published on the Render rate card. If new material and/or an updated insertion order is not received prior to each issue's closing date, the previous insertion will be repeated.

Cancellation: The advertiser must make written notice of intent to cancel prior to the published closing date and must be accepted by the publisher. Upon acceptance of cancellation, the advertiser will be billed for the difference in ad rate, if any, that applies to the number of insertions actually run. Publisher reserves the right to cancel advertiser's contract if payment has not been received for any prior insertions.
