Flamingo is upset. Very upset.

Potato is sorry. Very sorry. In fact, he is the sorriest.

But he doesn't know how to tell Flamingo. He would rather run away to the South Pole and live with penguins. He'd rather wear a disguise for the rest of time. But will that be enough to fix their friendship? Will they ever go back to being a girl, a potato, and a flamingo again?

Michael Ian Black and Debbie Ridpath Ohi, whose "smart cartoony artwork matches Black's perfect comic timing" (The New York Times Book Review), have paired up again to create a book about not just saying sorry, but about meaning it. The importance of talking about mental health at a young age is becoming more and more prominent, and this book is a fun way to discuss healthy responses to emotions and feelings.
